

Every other day somebody meets Mr Right with Frumster.com!

“Frumster.com has built a solid reputation for connecting marriage-minded Jews”

Dating can be tough work, but it doesn't have to be anymore. If you've tried speed dating, slow dating, and online dating and grown weary of the search for Ms./Mr. Right, there's one place that's getting matchmaking results.

In just five years online, Frumster.com has surpassed the 700-married milestone and is still going strong, averaging a match every other day. Frumster.com has built a solid reputation for connecting marriage-minded Jews. It's easy to navigate, and it's made even better by what it lacks: stale profiles and people who aren't serious about marriage.

Frumster has a rigorous members'-review policy, but that hasn't stopped people from joining. In fact, the very opposite: it has empowered members to know that Frumster's roster of eligible singles is reliable and trustworthy.

Those who might worry that they aren't religious enough for the site, don't fret — the “frum” aspect of Frumster.com is only one part. There's a tremendous growth in the marriage-minded non-Orthodox market, which crosses all ages and outlooks.

Frumster is also the first Jewish service to offer “VoiceIntro”, which allows members to record audio messages to go along with their profiles.

The United Kingdom represents the second-fastest growing membership outside America. Frumster boasts many U.K. matches, half of which where the couple were both from the U.K, and half involving one party living outside the U.K.

Zippy and David, two Brits who found each other on Frumster, married two years ago. But they weren't just from the same country - they had lived within blocks of one another and didn't know it until they met on Frumster!

“At first we were both quite hesitant about saying how we met for fear of how it would look,” admits David, “but the more we said it, the more people admitted to us how many people out there actually meet through the internet. Now we are actually proud to tell people our story, as their reaction is always so positive.”

Atara, who lived in Canada, married Steve, from England, in August 2006. Atara had initially been worried about long-distance dating, but advises, “If you want it to work and are willing to put in the effort — it will!”

Tens of thousands have found Frumster to be a comfortable place to find dates. Whether religious, traditional or growing, people are joining Frumster and finding their Jewish soul mate. Join up and you will soon understand why!
